

Helmut Newton

Alejandro Soligó

biography

Helmut Newton was born in Berlin in 1920.

He was Jewish.

In 1932 he bought his first camera but he was veiled all reels.

In 1938 he began a follow-up against the judiciary by the dictatorship of Hitler and he left Germany and went to Singapore.

Where he started working as a photographer in an important newspaper.

He was deported to Australia where he joined the army for World War II.

He left the army and set up his own studio in Merlburne where he met his wife.

He went to Paris to work with the Vogue and ELLE magazines.

Later he went to London for 2 years to specialize in fashion photography.

In London it was where he began to become very successful and popular.

His last years were in New York and Monte Carlo.

Finally he died in 2004 with 83 years.

photographic work

Helmut Newton created a series of images representing women in men's clothing and representing them as powerful figures, breaking all molds built by society. Despite all the controversy, she continued to push on in the photograph of the woman in the taking of images of naked bodies in provocative postures.

photos

He was greeted by anger in the beginning, but over time it became the industry standard. His unconventional images of femme fatales made Helmut Newton a legend in fashion photography. Not even his death in 2004 would put an end to his undeniable influence on how photography can exalt energy in women.

Q&A

Where was he born?

- Spain
- Berlin
- Venezuela

Where was he born?

- Spain
- Berlin
- Venezuela

In what specialized?

- Fashion
- Landscape
- Both are correct

In what specialized?

- Fashion
- Landscape
- Both are correct

Where did he meet his wife?

- Murcia
- Hong Kong
- Melbourne

Where did he meet his wife?

- Murcia
- Hong Kong
- Melbourne

